

Contents

About the Teaching Medicine Seriesxiii
Jack Ende, MD, MACP
Introduction: The Uniqueness of Hospital Medicinexv
Jeff Wiese, MD, FACP
Section I: Core Competencies of Hospital Teaching	1
1. Teaching to Improve Performance: The Clinical Coach3
Jeff Wiese, MD, FACP
The Phases of a Teacher's Development5
Motivation Techniques6
Using Visualization to Empower Interest and Promote Retention11
Anticipating Learner Pitfalls: The Power of Methods13
Techniques to Promote Retention14
Blocking Coaching Sessions: Foundation Before Drywall18
Checking on Learning19
Conclusion22
2. The First Day on Service: The Attending's Role in Setting Expectations23
Kevin J. O'Leary, MD
Marianne Tschoe, MD
Jeff Wiese, MD, FACP
Setting Team Goals and Objectives24
Organization of the Teaching Team29

x Teaching in the Hospital

The Supervision-to-Autonomy Spectrum: How Decisions
Will Be Made39

Establishing Communication Expectations40

Establishing a “No-Blame Culture”42

Establishing Expectations for Evaluation43

Conclusion44

3. Strategies for Succeeding as an Inpatient Attending Physician . . .45

Jeff Wiese, MD, FACP

Lorenzo DiFrancesco, MD

Neil Winawer, MD, FHM

Addressing Structural Issues46

Time Management Strategies48

Dealing With Heterogeneity of the Team51

Assessing Where Learners Are on the Autonomy-to-Supervision
Spectrum53

Conducting Rounds56

Teaching Transitions of Care60

Documentation, Coding, and Billing: Linking Notes61

4. Teaching Clinical Reasoning on the Inpatient Service67

Joseph Rencic, MD, FACP

Richard Kopelman, MD, FACP

Jeff Wiese, MD, FACP

The Attending67

The Clinical Reasoning Process: How Experts Think Diagnostically69

The Evolution of a Learner’s Clinical Reasoning70

Heuristics in Clinical Reasoning74

Using Bayesian Theory to Make Clinical Reasoning
More Concrete75

Incorporating Clinical Reasoning Into Teaching on Rounds87

Teaching Management Decisions: Treatment Thresholds93

Using the Admission Note to Assess Clinical Reasoning101

Using the Spoken Case Presentation to Assess
Clinical Reasoning103

The Anatomy of a Mistake: Using Mistakes to Advance
Learners’ Clinical Reasoning105

Final Thoughts105

5. Teaching the Important Nonclinical Skills on the Inpatient Service	107
Jeff Wiese, MD, FACP
Teaching Time Management	107
Teaching Data Organization	117
Teaching Interpersonal Skills	121
Teaching Learners to Read	132
Remediating Oral Case Presentations	137
Conclusion	143
6. Feedback, Evaluation, and Remediation on the Inpatient Service	145
Jeffrey J. Glasheen, MD
Jeannette Guerrasio, MD
Jeff Wiese, MD, FACP
Establishing a Culture of Improvement	147
Remediation	159
Section II: Clinical Teaching Scripts for Inpatient Medicine	163
Clinical Teaching Scripts for Inpatient Medicine	165
Jeff Wiese, MD, FACP
Contents	165
What Are Teaching Scripts?	166
The 10 Equations	169
Congestive Heart Failure	207
Anemia	219
Hyponatremia	230
Diabetes	240
Renal Failure	247
Asthma/Chronic Obstructive Pulmonary Disease	259
Acid-Base	270
Chest Pain	298
Antibiotics	306
Online Teaching Scripts (www.acponline.org/acp_press/teaching)
Hypokalemia
Dyspnea
Abdominal Pain
Weakness
Electrocardiograms
Index	321